Everything you need to know today

Resources for Hearing Care Professionals

As the situation with COVID-19 changes every day, it can be difficult to keep up with everything you need to do. You're challenged to protect your health – as well as that of your patients and co-workers. You're also challenged to manage your business – staying available for those who need care but also ensuring its long-term success.

At Signia, we're here to help.

That's why we're compiling resources, advice, and expertise on our new Practice Management website. You can find everything you'll need to stay informed, communicate with your patients, and make the best possible decisions for your practice.

- Links to the latest news and guidance from the CDC and AAA
- Emails, letters, and social media templates to keep your patients informed
- Expert discussions and guidance from experienced Hearing Care Professionals

We are here to help you to take stock of your situation, guide you on how to take care of your team and their future, and strengthen relationships with your patients.

However you choose to communicate with your patients at this time, remember to:

- Stay up to date – keep current on local and national news and guidance.

- Stay in touch – even if you’ve closed your office, be available by phone or email.
- Give patients options – make sure they understand you’re there for them no matter what.
- Be available – support their hearing health with TeleCare or phone support.

Thank you for being a member of the Signia family. We are committed to helping you, your patients, and your team stay healthy, safe, and connected during these trying times.

As a medical device manufacturer, Signia will remain open to support our customers and end users.

Life sounds brilliant.
